THE CHARMED CIRCLE

"WHAT makes with the boresome four-some?" asked Lenny, indicating two couples sitting in a booth nearby.

They were in Ward's soda fountain, better known as the "corner casbah," where most of the gang from Ashley High gathered every afternoon after classes. Lenny was sitting at the counter with his steady, Doris Bell. The rest of the gang was scattered around the casbah, chatting noisily and playing the juke box. All except the four Lenny had asked about. They sat huddled together in their booth talking secretly amongst themselves and discouraging any conversation from the rest of the gang.

Doris, in answer to Lenny's question, looked over her shoulder at the group and made a derisive sound. "Oh them! The C. C."

Lenny looked puzzled. "The C. C.?"

"Uh-huh. The charmed circle. They travel strictly on the selfish circuit. Get it?"

"I get it," Lenny nodded. "But I don't follow you. Remember, I was away most of the summer."

Doris explained, "Well, while you were out of town, Eddie, Frank, Evie and Martha became a quiet quartet. They just went everywhere together, and then they started to refrigerate the rest of the gang. Now, since the fall term has started they've become as exclusive as royalty at a peasant dinner."

"So I've noticed," said Lenny. "And it 'ain't good'! Eddie and Frank are two of the best players on the Ashley High football team, and if they stick with this charmed circle idea of theirs, the rest of the guys aren't going to support 'em on the field."

Doris scraped the last bit of ice cream from her dish and philosophized: "Life's like that, Lenny. Let's go join the hepcats at the juke box."

"They still hang around where the gang goes," Lenny observed, not moving.

"Oh sure. They never miss a dance or anything, but they never let anybody cut in and when they're not dancing they huddle together in a corner!"

"Maybe if we shrugged them off they'd come to their senses," suggested Lenny.

"They wouldn't even notice," Doris took Lenny's hand and urged him away from the counter. "C'mon. Let's listen to the new platters."

A real hot-platter enthusiast, Lenny ordinarily would have had his ear glued to the speaker, but today he hardly listened. He seemed to be making up his mind about something. Suddenly he took Doris by the arm and led her away from the phonograph. "Look, Doris," he said in a low voice. "You're having a rowdy-pow at your house tomorrow night; let's ask the charmed circle and when they get there, everybody do their best to make 'em mix with the gang."

"It won't do any good," said Doris. "I doubt if they'd even come."

"We've got to try," persisted Lenny. "For the team's sake. We've got one of the best high school elevens in the State, but we might as well not have any if we don't get teamwork."

"All right," conceded Doris. "But you ask them. I'll talk to the rest of the gang. Tell them I've got some new Lonnie Mack records. They're crazy about him!"

As soon as Lenny approached them, the four people in the booth abruptly ceased their chatter and looked up at him.

"Hi, 'gators!" Lenny greeted, trying not to notice the frowns of annoyance his interruption caused. The group muttered casual "hello's" and waited impatiently.

Lenny leaned over their table. "Why so glum, chums? Am I breaking something up?"

"We were discussing something private," Martha said pointedly.

Eddie and Frank stirred uncomfortably. "Aw, we were just talking," Eddie said.

"I gotta beat feet anyway," returned Lenny. "Some of the gang are coming over to Doris' house tomorrow night to hear her new Lonnie Mack records. Could you come?"

Evie shrilled: "For Lonnie Mack? Sure! Just try to keep us away. He's our favorite gabriel."

"See you then!" answered Lenny. He left them and gave the good news to Doris.

"Gee, I hope this works out," said Doris. "The gang will co-operate, but if they isolate themselves again, they're going to be forgotten people as far as we're concerned."

"It'll work out all right," Lenny assured her, wishing he felt half as confident as he sounded. But it didn't. Before the rowdy-pow had really started, the charmed circle was off in a corner, jiving to the Lonnie Mack records and completely ignoring the other couples Doris had invited.

"Well, how do you like that?" demanded Doris. "We've done everything we could to be sociable!"

Lenny, standing with her, was downcast. His little plan had flopped. "I don't understand it, Doris. I'm going to ask Eddie what it's all about. Gosh, this can kill the team!"

A few minutes later Lenny managed to catch Eddie off to one side. "What's the matter with the rest of us, Eddie?" he asked. "You guys have hardly noticed us!"

Eddie looked a little surprised. "Aw, sure we have! We said hello when we came in. We're having a swell time. It's just that we sort of have our own interests and you have yours. You know?" Eddie slapped Lenny on the shoulder. "Don't be a bird-brain, Lenny. We wouldn't snub you."

Lenny frowned as he watched Eddie join the other three members of the charmed circle. Maybe none of the four did consciously snub the rest of the gang, but sooner or later they would begin to, and then it would be too late to repair the damage done. Lenny had seen it happen to other cliques that had formed. He was in deep concentration when Doris came up and shook his arm.

"Hey, Sad Sack! Are you trying to kill this party too?"

Lenny looked at her and smiled. "Listen!" he said with sudden inspiration. "I've got another scheme. Lonnie Mack is playing in town now, and my dad knows his press agent. Now, here's what we do . . ." Doris nodded eagerly and giggled. "Perfect! It'll serve 'em right!"

Shortly thereafter Doris announced her intention of going to the kitchen and making a few sandwiches. Lenny, and then the others, offered to help her, until, gradually, only the charmed circle remained in the room. They continued to laugh and chatter among themselves. They apparently did not even notice the absence of the others. It was Evie who finally brought attention to the fact that they were alone.

"Hey, where is everybody?"

"Aw, they're probably wrestling with their appetites in the kitchen," said Eddie. "I'll go bring in some food for us."

Eddie returned with a frown on his face. "There's nobody there!"

The four looked at each other blankly. A record on the phonograph scratched to its ending and Martha turned it off. She didn't put on another. Frank said, without conviction: "They probably went to the delicatessen. They'll be back soon." He tried to pick up their former light banter, but without success. The party had fallen flat, and the charmed circle felt suddenly alone.

"This is a fine way to treat us," muttered Frank after they had waited a long time for the gang to return. The amazement at being left alone had turned to slow anger. "Let's get out of here. Next time we see those guys we'll cut them cold!"

They had their coats on when the gang suddenly burst into the house. "Boy, was Lonnie Mack in the groove tonight!" Lenny was saying. "How did you like meeting him, Eddie?"

Eddie's mouth dropped open with astonishment. "What do you mean? We haven't left the house!"

"But, you've got your coats on!" pointed out Lenny. "Say! Come to think of it I don't remember seeing you with us. We sorta wandered out the back way after we had a sandwich. Dad arranged for some passes to see Lonnie Mack and we even met him. It's a funny thing, but we're so used to you fellows being by yourself we didn't even miss you!"

Eddie started a sharp retort; then a sheepish look came over his face. He grinned and slowly took off his coat. "What do you say we finish the party, Lenny? All of us together?" He looked at the three other members of the charmed circle and added: "Maybe it'll help us get rid of our red faces!"

HOW JUST TWO WORDS TURNED MAC INTO A HE-MAN!

I Can Make YOU a New Man, Too —in Only 15 Minutes a Day!

If you (like Mac), are fed up with being "pushed around"—if you're sick and tired of having the kind of a body that people PITY instead of ADMIRE—then give me just 15 minutes a day! That's all I need to PROVE I can make you a NEW MAN!

I know what I'm talking about. I was once a thin, peepless, 97-pound "bag of bones" myself. Then I discovered my now-famous secret, "Dynamic Tension." It turned me into "The World's Most Perfectly Developed Man." And I have used this secret to rebuild thousands of other scrawny, half-alive weaklings into perfect, red-blooded specimens of real HE-MANHOOD. Let me prove that I can do the same for YOU!

"Dynamic Tension" Does It!

Using "Dynamic Tension" only 15 minutes a day, in the privacy of your own room, you quickly begin to put on muscle, increase your chest measurements, broaden your back, fill out your arms and legs. This easy, NATURAL method will make you a finer specimen of REAL MANHOOD than you ever dreamed you could be!

I don't care how old or young you are, or how ashamed of your present physical condition you may be. If you can simply raise your arm and flex it I can add SOLID MUSCLE to your biceps—yes, on each arm—in double-quick time!

FREE BOOK

Thousands of fellows have used my marvelous system. Read what they say—see how they look before and after—in my book, "Everlasting Health and Strength."

Send NOW for this book—FREE. It tells all about "Dynamic Tension." Shows you actual photos of men I've turned from puny weaklings into Atlas Champions. It tells how I can do the same for YOU. Don't put it off! Address me personally, Charles Atlas, Dept. 605 115 East 23rd Street, New York 10, N. Y.
